1. The subject of reference report should read: "Proposed Changes in the East German Pharmaceutical Import Plan for 1952". The whole report refers to the pharmaceutical department of the Main Department for Chemistry of the State Commission for Material Procurement, then known as the State Secretariat for Material Procurement. Although this is not indicated in the original report, it is evident from the type of imports discussed and is verified

2. February 1952 is not too late for East Germany to change such a plan. In fact, it is relatively early. The import and export plan for 1953 was changed as late as August 1953.
3. According to the original report¹, the first group of figures refers to amounts that must be imported from the indicated countries during 1952. The second group of figures indicates additional sums that may be spent for the items mentioned without regard to the country from which imported, except the last item.
4. The funds earmarked "Reserves" are funds available to pay for purchases that could not be anticipated at the time the plan was made up. Thus, funds would be available for emergency use.
